

We Should (Markus Lorber / 10-2018)

You think you are clever by building a great wall you blame the brave and honest to win some votes in fall

Can't you see you're lucky? just born apart from dirt you don't need degrees to rule with empty words

You should watch the stars maybe then you'd see that longing just for power is the poorest way to be be thankful for your luck that others can't await omit to win from hate

We should learn somehow to feel thankfulness
We should learn somehow to feel lowliness
We should

Would you want this wall if you were caught outside?
Wouldn't you just try to get somehow inside?

So don't preach too much water if you drink all that wine One day you'll ask yourself if all you did was fine
